SD: Are there other sounds that you miss or that you liked or don't like when you think of your time in Greenland?

Interviewee: I think right now [in city] I can get the same sounds .. so I think from the snow and stuff I can still get that here which is nice. If you go to like the cabin you can also get just silence.

SD: So you like silence and do you have others as well that you like?

Interviewee: Well, I like snow so just listening to snow and just silence in general, it's nice. It's like calming. And sometimes I go to the beach just to listen to the water.

SD: What does it feel like to listen to the water?

Interviewee: It's relaxing, it's like mental health.
